June 5, 2007

Data 360
http://www.data360.org/

If you’re one of those people that secretly love charts and graphs (and who isn’t?), the good people at Data 360 are soon to top your list of favorite chart providers.

Data 360 brings information and statistics together from numerous sources and presents it all in bar and line graphs. The goal of the site is to provide context to “important cultural, environmental, social, and economic issues,” many of which influence the business world. Find stats on technology, public opinion, and taxes, to name a few of the many issues covered.

From the home page, scroll down to find graphs organized into “Issue Groups,” and let that math geek buried deep down inside you shine.

-----

Qualify your sales leads. Increase your close ratios by 70% or more. Get a Hill Library HillSearch membership trial by visiting www.hillsearch.org/trial.
To nominate a site, please contact us. Note that sites must offer tools, resources or content relevant to businesses and must not be primarily a commercial site.

Know someone who can use great business information? Click "Forward" below.

Forward to a Friend